

The Johann Wolfgang Goethe University Frankfurt am Main is one of the largest universities in Germany with around 48,000 students and with about 5,000 employees. Founded in 1914 by Frankfurt citizens and since 2008 once again proud of its foundation status Goethe University possesses a high degree of autonomy, modernity and professional diversity. As a comprehensive university, the Goethe University offers a total of 16 departments on five campuses and more than 100 degree programs along with an outstanding research reputation.

The Institute of Pharmaceutical Chemistry of the Department of Biochemistry, Chemistry and Pharmacy of the Goethe University Frankfurt am Main offers immediately a position of a initially limited for three years. The salary grade is based on the job characteristics of the collective agreement applicable to Goethe University (TV-G-U). The position is funded by the EU program EUpOPEN. The position is in the group of Dr. Susanne Müller-Knapp at the Institute of Pharmaceutical Chemistry (<https://www.uni-frankfurt.de/53483664/Knapp>).

Doctoral (PhD) student (m /f/ d)
(E13 TV-G-U, 50% part time)

We are looking for a highly motivated and qualified cell biologist/biochemist/pharmacist/biotechnologist or similar with an interest in establishing cellular models for the evaluation of novel inhibitors and degrader molecules (PROTACS) as well as characterizing their biological effect in diverse biological systems. Furthermore, you will explore the biological function of the targeted proteins as well as validate their role in different disease models as target for pharmacological intervention.

Requirement for a successful application is a master degree (or equal) in cell biology, biochemistry, biotechnology, pharmacy or related subjects. You have practical knowledge in cell culture and assay development. In addition, you are comfortable working within an interdisciplinary team of international scientists with different personalities and cultures. Fluency in English is a prerequisite. You are passionate about your work and have a proactive work attitude.

The Goethe University is committed to a policy of providing equal employment opportunities for both men and women alike, and therefore encourages particularly women to apply for the position/s offered. Individuals with severe disability will be prioritized in case of equal qualification.

Please send applications until 29.11.2022 in a PDF file to: Dr. Susanne Müller-Knapp susanne.mueller-knapp@bmls.de, Goethe University Frankfurt, BMLS Max-von-Laue-Str. 15, 60438 Frankfurt/Main. Please note that application documents will be destroyed and not send back after the application procedure.